

June 2018

Can you believe that 2018 is half over? The way it's going we'll be wrapping Christmas presents before we know it.

I want to start off this message by talking about our live video demonstration we had with Mike Mahoney at the May meeting. I personally thought it was very informative and enjoyable. He was easy to talk with and let us decide what we wanted to see him demo. If you missed this session you missed a great venue. For the members who were there, I would like to get your feedback on your opinion of the live chat video. Most of the people I talk to, enjoyed it and thought we should do more life videos down the road.

Speaking of demonstrators, there will be a change of the demonstrator for June. John Lea will not be able to demo in June, so he will be moving to July. Richard Fairbourn will be doing the demo for June. The subject of his demo is yet to be determined.

The President's challenge for June is bottle stoppers and pizza cutters.

Don't forget we have two other projects that we are working on for the club. Those are the Beads of Courage bowls and the Wig Stands for the cancer patients. I have found the contact to give the wig stands to when we get them completed. I would like to get as many as we can finish by November so that we can turn them in to the contact person. You can find the plans for doing the wig stands on our website under presidents message for April of this year.

If You are working out in this heat, make sure you are staying hydrated. I know I am bad about working in the shop and getting busy, and I forget to take time to stop and have something to drink. So get her done.

Well that's all for now. Stay cool, turn often, and see you on June 16th at the Pyle Center. Thanks and have a great day.
